Instructions

Please read these instructions before beginning. The 5-page test has a one-hour time limit. It consists of five parts for a total of 100 points: Part 1, grammar; Parts 2, 3, and 4, current events; and Part 5, editing and headline writing.

Answers must be written on the test. Test-takers are permitted to have only blank paper, pens and No. 2 pencils.

The exercise will test your basic copy editing skills and will give you an opportunity to demonstrate your news judgment and your ability to deal with a deadline.

The headlines should be written in the spaces provided in Part 5. Each line of the headlines should be no more than FOUR units short of the total count. Don't forget to leave a space between words. Count each character (from a comma to a capital W to a space) as one unit. For example, the headline below would have the following counts:

Editing Test (12 units)

Called Easy (11 units)

By Students (11 units)

For the editing component, you should look for spelling, grammar and usage mistakes, as well as contradictions and/or gaps in the stories.

Do not begin the test until you have been instructed to do so by the monitor.

BAGDADH, Iraq—Two American soldiers were killed Wednesday within minutes of each other in separate attacks here and in Fallujah, the U.S. Central Command reported. The two deaths bring the total of U.S. troops killed since major combat ended on May 1 to 141, including 64 from hostile action.

President Bush, speaking from his ranch in Crawford, Tenn., deplored the latest killings and asserted that "we will not give in to terrorism. These attacks will not go unpunished." He added that America is committed to a "free and democratic Iraq." His latest statement, while forceful, will do little to comfort the relatives of the dead soldiers.

The total of American soldiers killed since May 1 now exceeds the number who died in combat. This comes as a surprise to many American officials, who were confident that the Iraqi people would rally in support of American troops following the deaths of Saddam Hussein's brothers, Uday and Qusay. Now, officials say, only the capture or killing of Saddam, himself, will convince the Iraqi people that peace is at hand.

Separately, L. Paul Bremer, the U.S. administrator in Iraq, was quoted in The Washington Post as saying that it was "almost impossible to exaggerate" Iraq's economic needs. He said reconstruction efforts would cost "several tens of millions" of dollars, including up to $16 billion over the next four years to deliver clean water to residents of the country. Meeting current electrical needs could cost up to $2 billion, he added.

Part 4—Editing and headline writing, continued: Edit the following story and write a two-line headline with a maximum character count of 18 per line.

NEW YORK-In the largest survey of its type, Consumer Report magazine said
"successful losers" in weight-loss programs took a do-it-yourself approach and cited exercise—not food deprivation—as their favorite strategy.
Nancy Metcalf, senior editor of the magazine, said the survey of 32,433 adults "overturns
the long-held conviction that to lose weight a person must enroll in an expensive program, follow the regimen of a diet guru or buy special food." Netcalf added that few of those who lost weight and kept it off had tried commercial diet plans, including the popular but controversial Atkins Diet plan, which calls for eliminating nearly all calories from a diet.
One in four of those surveyed was a "successful loser"someone who lost at least 10 percent of his or her starting weight and kept it off for at least one year. About 3,000 people, roughly 20 percent of those surveyed, maintained a similar weight loss for five years.
Many people credited their weight loss to increasing physical activity, such as taking an elevator rather than using the stairs or adding weight lifting to their exercise program.
FINAL INSTRUCTIONS: When you have finished or when time runs out, return this exercise to your monitor. The monitor's signature will certify that the exercise was completed within the 60-minute period. The monitor must mail your completed exercise postmarked by Nov. 1, 2003, to the Dow Jones Newspaper Fund, PO Box 300, Princeton, NJ, 08543-0300.
